AutoCAD is available on either a subscription or perpetual license model. The subscription model allows the software to be installed on one computer and access to all AutoCAD products (for example, AutoCAD LT and AutoCAD Standard) is unlimited. The perpetual license model allows each user to install the software on one computer and use the software as much as they like. This is the most common licensing model and allows for the highest level of customization. In the past, the registration of a valid license was required for access to the software. In recent years, users who purchase the software have the option to activate the software by using a license key on a CD/DVD, or with a magnetic code (automatically generated by the software).
